Football

Sports have entertained the world for hundreds of years from golf to baseball. America’s favorite sport today is football. People love watching and participating in football events. No matter if watching or playing, football is one of America's most popular sports. Many people attend high school, college, and professional football games every year. You can relate many aspects of football and sports to life. I think football is the best sport I have ever played or watched because of its teamwork and preparation aspects.

Football requires tremendous amounts of teamwork and sportsmanship to be successful. No one man can win a football game. He may make a big tackle or a diving catch, but without him and the other ten players on the field, he can not win a game. A football player can not be selfish and put himself before his team. Teamwork is vital in the game of football. If you have nine players doing their job and two not doing it, then you are not going to be a very successful team. It takes eleven players working and communicating together to be successful.
